TURN SPACE INTO PLAY

A visual collection of court layouts, finishes and settings.

Indoor energy.

Dark court finishes, vivid lighting columns and transparent enclosures give this indoor setting a distinctive identity.

01

Glass connections

Views between the playing areas and the courtside seating.

02

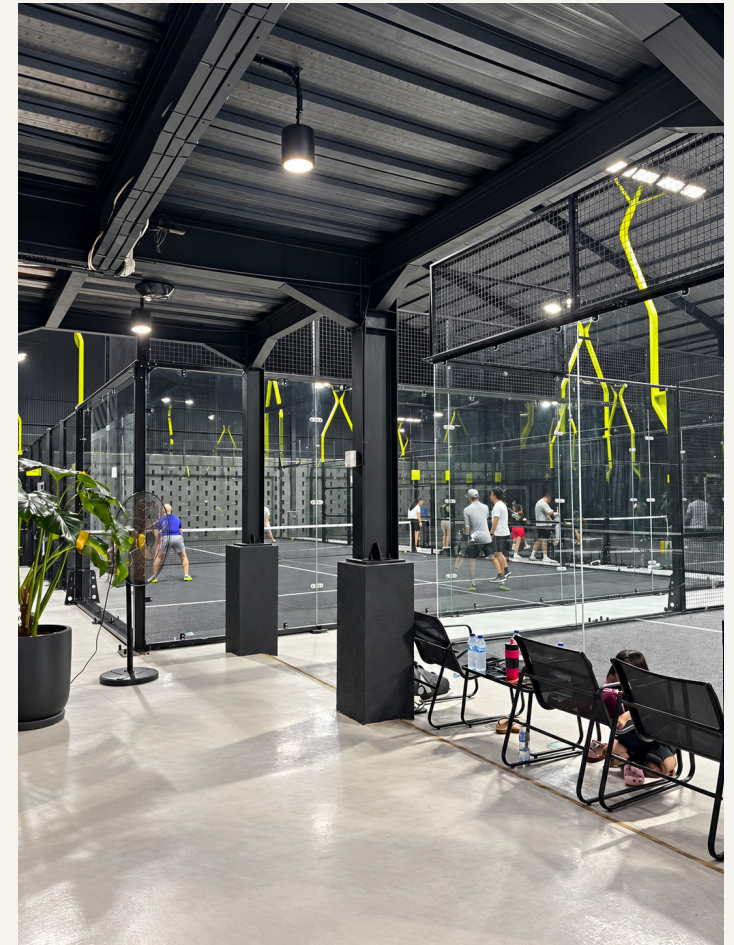

Colour accents

Bright lighting supports against a restrained interior palette.

BETWEEN THE COURTS

A close view of the enclosure and lighting details.

BESIDE THE PLAY

Seating and planting sit alongside the playing space.

Open to the skyline.

A colourful outdoor setting, seen through three court details.

PURPLE / DARK FRAME

Glass enclosure and curved lighting arms.

CHARCOAL / RED FRAME

A strong contrast at the court corner.

PINK / LIGHT FRAME

A softer palette against the evening sky.

Courts beneath a canopy.

VIEW FROM WITHIN THE COURT

AN OPEN-SIDED SETTING

Pale roof membranes and dark frames define the courts while retaining views to the surrounding landscape.

Canopies, in sequence.

A REPEATED ROOFLINE

A sequence of arched roofs gives the venue a clear visual rhythm. Blue and purple playing surfaces bring colour to the wider setting.

DESIGN NOTE

Court and canopy

The roof structure, court enclosure and circulation areas read as one coordinated setting.

A mixed racquet-sport setting with covered padel courts.

A place to play. And stay.

The experience continues beyond the glass. Green courts, warm paving and shaded seating create an inviting courtside setting.

PLAY / WATCH / SOCIALISE

A close relationship between the courts and the surrounding social space.

Court enclosure, roof cover and terrace viewed together.

Colour in the city.

A BOLD PALETTE

A blue playing surface and green court frame make a strong visual statement within an urban sports setting.
